Now go to Unit 12

Chips or salad?

Emphasising contrasting alternatives

A

When we present alternatives, we 'underline' the contrast between them. Listen to this example. Notice the way the speaker 'underlines' the alternatives.

A: I'd like a hamburger, please.

B: Do you want a super burger or a regular burger?

A: What's the difference?

B: Well, the super comes with chips and the regular comes without chips.

B

The same sentence can be pronounced differently, depending on the sentence that came before it. Listen to these examples. Notice how B 'underlines' in a different place depending on what A said.

A: You can pay by credit card.

B: I haven't got a credit card.

A: Why are you paying in cash?

B: I haven't got a credit card.

A: Shall we sit inside or outside?

B: Let's sit outside.

A: Where shall we sit?

B: Let's sit outside.

Note: In the second example above, it is not a different word which is underlined; it is a different part of the same word outside.

C

The word we choose to 'underline' can change the meaning of our sentence. Listen to these sentences pronounced in two different ways and see the different meanings in the pictures.

Do you want the hamburger with chips, or salad?

Would you like chicken with vegetables, or Russian salad?

Note: In writing, the pause may be indicated by a comma.
