Part 1

Read the text and answer the questions. Circle the correct answers.

There is one example.

Birds are very interesting animals. They come in all shapes and sizes and sometimes beautiful colours. There are many different types of birds, from ducks and geese in rivers and lakes, to birds of prey that are carnivores and eat other animals and insects. The smallest bird in the world is the male bee hummingbird, which is only 7 cm long. The tallest bird is the 2.7 metres tall ostrich which can weigh up to a staggering 120 kg!

Some birds can also sing beautifully. Why do they sing? Most experts believe that birds sing to communicate with each other. We are lucky that they often make such a beautiful sound when they are 'talking' to each other!

Birds of prey are a special type of bird. They are carnivores, which means they eat meat and these birds eat other birds and animals. They have sharp, curved beaks and strong, sharp nails or talons. An example of a bird of prey is the falcon, which is the national bird of the UAE.

The UAE is famous for birds that migrate during the cold winter months in other countries. Some birds fly more than 3000 kilometres to get to the UAE from colder countries, and then fly back when the weather changes. The UAE is half way between Europe and Asia, so it makes a perfect place for birds to stop on their long journeys.

Part 2

Read about the history of transportation.

Read the statements. Decide if they are True or False.

Circle the correct answers. There is one example.

The earliest form of public transport was on water. Boats and rafts made of reeds, wood and animal skins were used in Egypt and South America. In about 4000 BCE, boats with sails were used in Mesopotamia (now Iraq).

Early Chinese engineers began to build canals for carrying boats in the fifth century BCE. The first important canal in Europe was the Canal du Midi in France, completed in 1681.

The railway age began in Britain with Richard Trevithick's steam railway locomotive in 1814. The first passenger railway opened in 1825 in the north of England. At first, people worried that they wouldn't be able to breathe when travelling at speeds of 25 kilometres per hour!

The first buses were introduced in France in 1827 by Stanilas Baudry. They were pulled by horses and they were called voitures omnibus. The first motor car was built by Karl Benz in 1885. Buses with petrol engines soon replaced horse-drawn buses and cars took over the roads.

To Ahmed

Hello,

I am holding a book sale at my school on Saturday to help raise money for a new school bus. We are hoping to collect as much money as possible. A group of local businesses has promised to donate the same amount of money that the children raise on Saturday, so they can double the total amount. We are hoping to raise about 2000 AED.

I was thinking that you could help me with some of the problems I am having with organisation. We have three stalls that we need people to sell books at, with fantasy and history already covered. Do you think you can cover the last one?

All the students collected books from their friend and families. We are also very happy that we will receive the same amount from local businesses. Volunteers will help to run the book sale, but we only have 7 people so far. Can you please ask your friends, brothers and sisters if they can help us? I will appreciate that a lot!

I wish you a happy day,

Saeed
