The following text is for numbers 14 to 17

Last holiday I went for a camping with my classmates. Right after we set up our tents, the rain came. After the rain stopped, we took a boat out on the lake. Once we were out there the boat stopped. So we asked for someone to come get us.

In the afternoon, we took the boat out to go fishing. Unfortunately, it started to rain again, but we decided to tough it out. However, the rain got so bad like a white wall. By the time we made it back to camp, everyone was soaked and everything we left out at camp was wet.

The next day we went for swimming. Once we got into the water, we could barely move because of the mud. When we went down to get a handful of it, it smelled like crap. However, we started throwing it at each other so we were all full of crap smelling mud and needed another shower. What a holiday!

I do not like to visit a dentist. But one day I had a bad toothache. I could not stand the pain so I phoned my dentist, and made an appointment with him.

As I entered his waiting room, I saw many patients. They were all waiting their turn to go in. Most of them seemed to be in great pain. Some even had swollen cheeks. I sat on a chair and looked through some magazines as I waited to be called in.

Suddenly I heard a scream from the next room. I became very frightened. I wanted to get up and run back home. But everyone would have laughed at me if I did this. So I kept on sitting. At last it was my turn to go in. Tears dropped on my cheeks. I sat on the chair nervously.

The dentist was kind and gentle. He knew that I was so afraid so he calmed me down. He said that there was a cavity in my tooth. It would have to be filled. Then he took a machine and drilled my tooth. It made unbearable noise. Finally, he filled my tooth.
