Elephants are the largest land animals. Whales are larger than elephants, but whales live in the sea. Elephants have big ears and a tail. They have a long nose called a trunk. Elephants use their trunks to smell and to drink water. Elephants also have two tusks. The tusks look like horns, but actually the tusks are two very long teeth. Elephants use their tusks to dig in the ground and to fight animals that attack them, like tigers and lions. Elephants live in groups called herds. Elephants only eat plants. They don't eat other animals.
