Blog: "Teenage bedrooms"

This is my new bedroom. My family and I have just moved to a new house. I've never had my own space before – I used to share a room with my brother. As you can see, I'm pretty tidy. You can also tell I love science... Look at those planets over my bed!

Have you just decorated your room? Or do you simply love your space and want to share it with us? Post a picture and description on this site!

OMG, my room is so messy already! I just cleaned it yesterday. My favourite place is my desk. I spend all my free time sitting there playing computer games. I made sure to get a comfortable chair. I always keep my blinds closed because I don't like watching people go by.

This is a typical day in my room. Dad went to work, and my little sister is still sleeping late. My bed here is small, but at least I sleep alone. Don't get me wrong! I love sharing the space with them, but they can get really messy sometimes! Good thing this girl here always helps me put everything in order every day.

Here's a pic of my room! I haven't really decorated it much. The white walls make the room feel bigger, and the big window gives me lots of light. I'm really excited about my new guitar – I just got it a week ago! I'm still learning how to play though.
