PEOPLE WHO TRANSFORMED THE WORLD

Powerful leaders have the ability to shape history, but only a few of them have changed the world. Here are some people who changed it.

Mahatma Gandhi (1869–1948) Gandhi led the fight for Indian nationalism against British rule in the 1920s. His nonviolent protests inspired similar movements in support of human rights around the world. "Mahatma," which means "venerable" in Sanskrit, was an honorific name given to him in 1914, in South Africa. Gandhi was assassinated on Jan. 30th in 1948. His birthday, Oct. 2, is commemorated as a national holiday in India and is celebrated worldwide as the International Day of Nonviolence.

Martin Luther King, Jr. (1929–1968) Martin Luther King, Jr. was an American activist and humanitarian who became the leader of the African-American Civil Rights Movement. Similar to Gandhi, he became known for advancing human rights through nonviolent civil disobedience. In 1963, King helped organize the March on Washington, where he famously delivered his iconic "I Have a Dream" speech. King was assassinated on April 4, 1968, in Memphis, Tennessee. Before his death, in 1964, King received the Nobel Peace Prize. He was also awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom and the Congressional Gold Medal posthumously.
