

ANATOMY LABELS

Vagina

Ovary

Uterus

Cervix

Fallopian Tube

PHYSIOLOGY LABELS

narrow tubes that assist the transfer and transport of the female reproductive cell maintain a sterile environment during conception and holds the fetus in until birth nourish and house a fertilized egg until the fetus, or offspring, is ready to be delivered a tube connecting the uterus to the outside of the body main reproductive organs that produce ova (egg) and the female sex hormones oestrogen progesterone