Choosing the correct word type

- Often, multiple-choice options look alike. In these cases, you have to decide what type of word you need. Read the whole sentence to find out what kind of word the gap needs.
- Word endings can help you identify what type of word each answer option is. You may see -ly endings for adverbs, and -er and -est endings for comparative and superlative adjectives.
- When a gap needs a relative pronoun, find out what noun it refers to to help you choose your answer.
