

Unit 3

Relationships

A Drag the words and drop them into the correct box.

gossip

lie

argue communicate

apologize

compromise

- To have a good relationship because you are able to understand and talk about your own and other people's thoughts, feelings, etc.
- To say or write something that you know is not true.
- To speak angrily to somebody because you disagree with them.
- To say that you are sorry for doing something wrong or causing a problem.
- To give up some of your demands in order to reach an agreement after disagreeing with somebody.
- To talk about other people's private lives, often in an unkind way.

B Complete the sentences with the correct choice.

- ___ a reliable person.
It's important to be Is important to be It's important be
- ___ something if a friend is gossiping about you.
It's helpful say It's not helpful to say Its helpful to say
- It's ___ discuss problems.
not a good idea an idea good to not a good idea to
- It's ___ criticize someone.
not good to not good idea to a good idea
- ___ forgive someone.
It is nice It's nice to Its nice to

C Choose the correct phrase to complete the conversation.

Liz: Hi, Bryan. I'm really sorry / That's OK I didn't meet you at the mall.

Bryan: Don't worry about it / My apologies .

Liz: Can we meet another day?

Bryan: Sure. What about this weekend?

Liz: There's no need to apologize. / I'm sorry, but I can't. I have to work.

Bryan: Oh, that's OK / I'm really sorry.

Liz: How about Monday at 5 p.m.?

Bryan: Perfect! See you then!

Liz: Great! Bye!

