A Flash of Green

Joey was pulling weeds in the garden. How he loathed pulling weeds! He tried every excuse that he could. It was no use. Dad almost never changed his mind once he said something. Today he said Joey had to pull weeds!

Joey was beginning to feel tired. He had really been working hard. He decided to take a break. Joey lay back for just a brief moment. He put his hands behind his head and crossed his feet. He was really feeling great.

Then it happened. Something big and green flashed in front of his face. Joey was scared to death. He looked around and saw nothing. He thought maybe he was going crazy. Could it have been a frog? Maybe it was a big, green bird. Joey really didn't care. All he knew was that he had to pull the weeds in a hurry. He wanted to get out of there fast!
