

One of the most memorable times in my life was when I enrolled in Form One. I will remember that eventful year on the rest of my life. My primary education was spent on a small school in my hometown of Klang, Selangor. When it is time for secondary school, my parents made the decision to moves to Penang to take up better work opportunities there. I was really sad to left all my friends behind. In Penang, it was difficult to adapts to the new environment. My father's new position as the head engineer at his new company keep him very busy. My mother, a bank managers, is also always swamped with work. So, my parents could not spending much time with me in Penang. At first, I had no friends in my new school. Of the beginning, I felt left over but with time, I got used to my surroundings and started making new friends. School life then became more fun and exciting. There were many interesting clubs and societies to join.
