

Writing task

Write an instant message to a friend. Read Jenny's instant message below and write a reply to her.

Plan Make notes for the main paragraph of your instant message. Give an example of a similar situation and say what happened. Then advise Jenny what she should do.

Write Write your instant message. Use your notes and the instant message in exercise 1 to help you. Start your instant message like this:

Hi Jenny,
Sorry to hear about your problem.

Check Check your writing.

- ☒ verbs – spelling
- ☒ verbs – tense
- ☒ verbs – agreement with subject
- ☒ verbs – word order

Hi!

I hope you're well.

I'm writing to you because I want some advice. I want to buy a mobile phone, but my parents won't let me. What do you think I should do?

Jenny

What is the message about?

What Jenny should do?

Why Jenny should have a handphone? (the reasons)

Look at the 5W1H that can be found in the message- so you should respond the "wh" questions from the message

5W1H- What- Why- When- Who- Where- How do you feel? & How to do it?

#Remember! Not all of the "wh" questions can be applied during answering/ writing a message

Hi Jenny,

Sorry to hear about your problem.

Rearrange the answer to fill in the instant message column.

Drag and drop the correct answer.

- 1) First, I think you can tell them that you really need it for your homework especially during this MCO and everyone has to learn using the phone and laptop.
- 2) I also experienced the same situation.
But I told my parents the reasons for me to have a handphone.
- 3) Next, you can tell them that you will use your own saving to buy the phone.
- 4) Secondly, you could also let them know that you must have your own phone so you will not left behind for the lesson that thought by teacher.
- 5) I hope these ideas can help you to convince your parent. Good Luck Jenny.
- 6) Can't wait to hear from you. See you soon.
- 7) Regards
Julia
