HOW A PHOTO CHANGED MY LIFE

"Koala Man" David Tree woke up one morning to find his photograph on the front page of newspapers around the world.

It was one of the hottest summers in memory in the state of Victoria, Australia. Bush fires* were burning very close to people's homes and they were in danger. In every town, volunteers were fighting the fires. David Tree was one of these volunteer firefighters.

On 9 February, Mr Tree was working with his team near his home town of Mirboo. They were fighting a bush fire. They were driving up Samson Road when Mr Tree saw a koala. It was walking across the burned ground, and it didn't look happy. "There's a koala, stop the truck," he shouted and jumped out. "I videoed the koala for my daughter Cheyenne, and yelled for a bottle of water." Firefighter Mark Pardew took the photo while the koala was drinking from a bottle. "Koalas are usually unfriendly but this one took David's hand," said

Mr Pardew. "She was extremely tired and thirsty." A friend took the injured animal to a wildlife centre. At the centre, they named her Sam after Samson Road.

Later Mr Pardew emailed the photo to friends and someone sent it to the local newspaper. From there, it went around the world and David Tree became a celebrity.

*Bush fires = fast and dangerous fires that happen in the countryside in Australia.

That was a great idea, wasn't it? It helps the environment – but it also helps the fishermen. In the past, while they were fishing, big waves and bad weather sometimes (1) broke / was breaking their boats up. It was dangerous work ... Now maybe the fishermen are not in danger as often.

While I was listening to the story in class, I (2) had / was having my own idea for an environmental project. I told my best friend Gabriela about it while we (3) walked / were walking home from school. She thought my idea sounded great so I (4) decided / was deciding to discuss it with Dad. I explained the idea to him while he (5) made / was making dinner. He loved it too and promised to help. It means a lot of hard work but I'm not afraid of that. Right ... let's get started. 😊

Activity 6: Complete the sentences using the past simple and past continuous form of the verbs in brackets. / 10p

We saw (see) the Pyramids while we were visiting (visit) Egypt.
