

Thanksgiving Day in Canada

Thanksgiving Day is one of my favourite holidays. In Canada, we celebrate it on the second Monday of October each year. Thanksgiving is a day to relax and give thanks for food, family, and friends.

Most people have Thanksgiving Day off from work because it is a statutory holiday. They will get together with family or friends and enjoy a special dinner. Canadians eat many traditional foods at Thanksgiving time. We often eat turkey, cranberry sauce, potatoes, and pumpkin pie.

Some families just relax and go visit city parks on Thanksgiving Day. They go for walks to see the beautiful fall colours and hear Canada geese flying in the sky. If you are a sports fan, you may decide to stay home and watch football games on TV.

It's nice to make your own family traditions for Thanksgiving. How will you and your family celebrate Thanksgiving this year?
