Changing- for the better?

Family life is changing in the UK - but not in the way we might think. When the BBC did a survey of families in Britain, they expected to find that family relationships were suffering because of the decline in traditional family structures. However, some of the results were quite surprising ...

58%
of men

and

39%
of womenaged 20-24 still live at home with their parents.

1

think that it is right for parents to charge rent to children over 25 who have a job and are living at home.

30%

use the internet at least once a week to contact their families.

On average,
adults live

130

kilometres from their parents.

95%
of people

say that they have a close family.

2
of people

have a meal with their immediate family
every day.

3

say that their families
never argue.

4

who they don't speak
to any more.

5

think that families
should look after grandparents.

75%

with their families.

17%

d Listen and check. Do any of the statistics surprise you? Which ones do you think would be very different if the survey was carried out in your country?

1.15

e Say what you think and give reasons.

Useful language: Giving your opinion (2)

We often use should + verb to say what we think is the right thing or a good thing (to do), e.g.

I think families should have dinner together every day because...

I don't think parents should be friends with their children on Facebook because ...

Do you think that ... ?

- families should have a meal together every day
- children should leave home as soon as they can afford to
- parents should charge their children rent if they live at home and have a job
- parents should be 'friends' with their children on social networking sites, e.g. Facebook
- elderly parents should live with their children when they are too old to live alone
