

Prefix exercise

Name: _____

(BK1 U6) Please identify words with prefix

★ Listen and tick prefix 🔊

☐ Non-- ☐ over--- ☐ ex--- ☐ inter--- ☐ multi---- ☐ in--- ☐ ir---
☐ en--- ☐ un---- ☐ re---- ☐ ex---- ☐ uni---- ☐ mis--- ☐ il---

★ drag and drop please drag prefix to the blank

ex non en over ex multi uni un in ex re un ex inter ir

Good evening, this is _____-FUN Student News. On Monday morning, a 7-Eleven store in Taipei was _____-crowded with people. A lot of _____-customers were lining up in front of the counter in the store at the corner of an _____ section, with _____ple types of point stickers in their hands.

Those _____-customers used to shop at that _____convenience store, but stopped visiting the store due to _____regular business hours. Nevertheless, those point stickers _____courageed _____-customers to line up again. These people were waiting _____usually to _____collect enough point stickers and _____changed them with the _____formed clerks for an _____limited-edition mug.

(BK4 U3)

★ Listen and tick prefix 🔊

☐ non-- ☐ il--- ☐ ex--- ☐ dis--- ☐ multi---- ☐ in--- ☐ sur--
☐ en--- ☐ un---- ☐ re---- ☐ ex---- ☐ uni---- ☐ mis--- ☐ ir---

★ drag and drop please drag prefix to the blank

non en over ex multi uni in ex re un ex sur ir mis ir un dis un ir dis dis il il il

Jess, a flight attendant, shared her exposures to strange laws with us.

It is _____legal to chew gum in Singapore as the gum makes _____rounding _____clean. In addition, smoking is _____courageed in most _____door location in order to protect _____-smokers from the harmful effects of second-hand tobacco smoke. If you _____agree with the local rules and _____behave, you are considered _____responsible.

Another _____usual law in Australia is wearing all black. It may sound _____rational to you, but Australians do think wearing all black makes one look like a _____honest person, thief for example.