

Harris Aslam is an ambitious young man left school the age of thirteen to work in his family's grocery business. Now, at the age of eighteen, he owns three shops in Kirkcaldy, Scotland, town he was born and brought . But Harris has bigger ambitions and wants new challenge. The job he is now applying is CEO of Nisa Retail, a grocery business annual sales are about £1.6 billion! This is a job usually attracts middle-aged businesspeople, not eighteen-year-olds. And indeed, Nisa Retail is looking someone is very experienced, Harris might not get job. But you have admire his ambition!