- A: Excuse me. Haven't we met before?
B: No, sorry. You don't look familiar.
A: Isn't your name Deborah?
B: That's my sister. We look alike. I'm Susan.
A: I'm Gwen. Deborah and I used to work together at Westhill Secondary School. By the way, how is she? I haven't seen her for ages.
B: She's great. She hasn't changed much. She's still a Maths teacher.
A: Tell her I said hello.
B: Sure. I'm sorry, I didn't catch your name.
A: Gwen Fisher.
B: OK, Gwen. This is my floor. It was nice talking to you. Bye.

- C: Do you mind if I join you? There aren't any tables available.
D: No, go ahead.
C: I'm Francesca.
D: Jessica. Nice to meet you. What do you do?
C: I'm a hairdresser. I have got my own salon on Garner Street.
D: Really? I go past there almost every day. How's business?
C: It could be better. What about you?
D: I'm unemployed. I graduated last year, but I haven't found a job yet.
C: Good luck with that. It's not easy at the moment.
D: Tell me about it. I've already been to three

- E: Steve! Long time no see!
F: Hello, Ken. Good to see you again.
E: How long has it been since we last saw each other?
F: I think it was at your brother's barbecue.
E: That was a year ago.
F: Yeah. So, how have you been? Are you still working at that art gallery?
E: No, I work at the National Museum now. I've been there since March.
F: Oh, here comes the A19. Got to go. Give me a call sometime, OK?

B. Read the dialogues again and answer the questions. Write A-F.
