ME:		CLASS :
Cultural The Australian Out THE OUTB SURVIVAL	tback	RE PLANNING A TRIP TO THE LIAN OUTBACK. FOLLOW VICE TO STAY SAFE.	The Outback is a large, mainly desert area of Australia where very few people live. Temperatures can reach 50°C in take enough water with survive for many days with without water. Remember very thirsty, so you'll need litres of water a day wear a hat and sun crea sunburn. The sun is one of dangers in Australia. It is a between 1pm and 5pm, so mornings and evenings plan your route carefully have a detailed, up-to-dat places where you can find also have a GPS receiver tost tell someone where you route you plan to take and to arrive.  Word check survive hike up-to-date GPS	you. You can out food, but not the heat makes you to drink several  m to avoid the biggest t its hottest only hike in the map which shows water. You should o prevent getting are going, what when you expect	many different kinds in Australia, but only year are killed by sna snakes alone, they wan rely on your mobi many remote areas, you won't be able to see crocodile warning dangerous animals a happen in Australia! leave your vehicle down in the middle of a plane is searching you, it's much easier spot a car than a per from the air.	the phone if you get lost. In there will be no signal, so use it.  ddy water or where you ag signs. Crocodiles are and attacks often  if you break of nowhere.  g for CROCODILES
pok at the picture. What dang	gers does it show?	L	d)S e)C
ead the text again and listen ) What is it more important to Food  ) When shouldn't you go walk In the morning	have with you in the Water	e Australian Outback	ŝ
) What is probably more useful A GPS receiver  ) Which animals are more day Snakes	a mobile
) What should you do if your of Continue on foot				