

Could and Wouldn't

Grammar Tips

Could and couldn't are the past tense form of can and can't.

We use could to mean that we were able to do something in the past.

We use couldn't to mean that we weren't able to do something in the past.

- We could walk around the park yesterday morning as it was not raining.
- We couldn't jog at 6 p.m. yesterday as it began to pour.

PULSE 2

For more practices on could or couldn't refer to Pulse 2, Pg 25

D Complete the following sentences with could or couldn't.

1. When I was young, I _____ swim as I was very afraid of water.
2. Zaleha _____ write the essay so she asked the teacher for help.
3. At 93, Joe's grandfather _____ drive a car as he was still very fit.
4. May _____ join us for the party as she was away on holiday.
5. Zahid _____ play the piano when he was young because he was naturally talented at it.
6. Suresh _____ play chess well so he lost to Rashid.

Was and Were

Grammar Tips

We use the verb to be was and were to show the status or characteristics of something or someone.

Past Simple

I was happy.

You were happy.

He/She was happy.

We were all happy.

It was happy.

PULSE 2

For more practices on was and were refer to Pulse 2, Pg 25

E Complete the following sentences with was or were.

1. What _____ you doing yesterday at 5 p.m.?
2. I _____ asleep at that time.
3. The books _____ on the table when I left.
4. My father's car _____ in perfect condition last night.
5. The teacher _____ unhappy with my essay so I had to rewrite it.
6. Many books _____ on sale at the book fair.
7. Mr and Mrs Mah _____ at home when the fire broke out.
8. _____ she your primary school teacher?