Passage 1

Games are important at any age to keep your mind sharp, learn new things, and maintain social skills. People say you can't teach an old dog new tricks. Modern research has shown that senior people can continue to grow brain cells by exercising their mind. Games are a great way to help develop your mind. By concentrating on the tactics of the game, memorizing moves, learning your games strategies, you can keep your brain functioning and growing. Besides playing games is the easiest way to learn the way people interact and react as they play while it helps build the relationship among people. Regardless of your age, people should play games in order to gain the benefits.
