My Singapore blog

Hi! I'm Lee from Singapore.

📍 Singapore is a small country in Asia. Less than six million people live here.

📍 Our flag is red and white with five stars and a moon.

📍 Singapore is near the equator. There aren't any seasons. Our weather is hot and rainy.

📍 English, Mandarin Chinese, Malay and Tamil are the official languages. My family speak English and Mandarin Chinese.

📍 People love going to restaurants. You can go to Chinatown for rice and noodles, or Little India for curry and delicious Indian cakes.

📍 1st October is Children's Day. Schools are closed and children have a holiday. We have parties and parents give presents to their children.

My favourite place in Singapore is the SuperTree Grove. I go there with my parents and my sister on Sunday. The Supertrees aren't real trees. They are made of metal and concrete, but there are flowers and plants on them. There are 18 Supertrees and they're 25 to 50 metres tall. Solar panels on the Supertrees make electricity from the Sun.

There's a café at the SuperTree Grove. I have an ice cream, my sister has pizza and my parents have sandwiches. At night, there are lights on the Supertrees. I think they're beautiful.
