One can understand why Malacca is called a historic city. Some streets in Malacca seemed to have hardly changed in the last few centuries. Strolling along Jalan Hang Jebat and Jalan Tan Cheng Lock, my friends and I could imagine how they would have appeared in the ancient times when they were known as Jonker and Hereen Street. Then, these streets were almost totally occupied by the Baba families.

6. What does they in the passage refer to?

- A The last few centuries
- B The two streets
- C The Baba families

Amir

Hi guys. I'm doing survey for school on hobbies of young people. Could you tell me what you like to do in your free time and why?

Sarah

I like travelling because I am able to see the world and experience different cultures.

Mthusamy

My hobby takes me up mountains and rough terrains. Sometimes I hike and camp out in the jungle

Maria

I like nature and so I try to capture it. I love to take pictures of people, animals and scenic sights.

Robots do not require sleep or breaks. They are able to function without stopping. When employed to carry out dangerous tasks, the risk to human health and safety is reduced. They can be more productive than people. However, people can lose jobs in the factories. Apart from that, robots need maintenance to keep them running. It costs a lot of money to make up or buy the robots as the software and the equipment needed to use with the robot cost a bomb

10 All three people here have described their various hobbies. Which of the following statement is not true?

- A Maria likes to capture pictures of nature at its best
- B Travelling allows Sarah to take beautiful pictures
- C Mthusamy's hobby sometimes puts him in challenging situations

11 Which of the following statements about robots is true?

- A They do not need any maintenance to keep them running.
- B they need equipment and software that are extremely expensive
- C they are not as productive as people as they are unable to think

Dear Veronica

You have asked me how to prepare fried rice many times before. I hope this will help. Firstly, cook some rice in a rice cooker. Then, get some vegetables, eggs, prawns and onions ready. Heat up your pan and sauté the ingredients in hot oil. Then, add in the cooked rice and mix well. Lastly, add in some salt to taste and serve.

I hope you will have an interesting time trying this out. Let me know if it works out well.

Bye for now.

Linda

12 From this note, we know that

- A Veronica has made the dish before
- B Linda is teaching Veronica how to make fried rice
- C Veronica has taught Linda how to make fried rice many times

These creatures are usually found in tropical and subtropical waters around the world but occasionally ( 20 ) _____ in very cold seas. They can migrate many thousands of miles between their feeding and nesting grounds. Leatherbacks have inhabited the seas for thousands of years and are considered to be one of nature's most successful creatures, remaining virtually unchanged in that time.

The East Coast is one of the only two places in the world where giant Leatherbacks choose to ( 21 ) _____ their eggs. It is most ( 22 ) _____ that many people have always enjoyed eating the eggs of sea turtles and the increase in human population has dramatically reduced the number of eggs as most eggs laid ( 23 ) _____. At one time, turtle eggs commanded such a high price that almost every egg ( 24 ) _____ removed and sold.

The Giant Leatherbacks which roam the seas often return instinctively here between the months of May and September to lay eggs. Rantau Abang, a 19 km stretch of beach near Dungun, is a major nesting area of these turtles. It is also the unofficial ( 25 ) _____ of the sea turtles. The Turtle Information Centre set up in 1983 and financed by the Terengganu State Government is open to the public. Visitors can acquire information such as the egg laying and hatching process of these turtles. Much effort has been made to ( 26 ) _____ these turtles.

We interviewed six teenagers about the occupation that they want to choose when they grow up. Read the texts and answer the questions that follow.

Sought-after Occupations Among Teenagers

A – Aliyah, 17 years old I want to be a doctor when I grow up. To me, health is above everything else in the world. The satisfaction of saving lives and restoring patients’ health goes far beyond the feeling of other achievements. Despite the long and gruelling hours of work in the field of medicine, I know my life will be happier when I can put a big smile on the patient’s and the family members’ faces.
B – Nelson, 15 years old I want to be a teacher when I grow up. As a teacher, I can make a difference in the lives of many students. I want to make students work harder than they think they could. I can make a C+ feel like a congressional medal of honour for some students but an A- feel like a slap in the face for other students. Nonetheless, in addition to teaching content, a teacher has to prepare and update students’ performance indicators on a regular basis. The excessive paperwork might make it difficult for teachers to have a work-life balance.
C – Henrianus, 16 years old I want to be an entrepreneur when I grow up. I want a lifestyle that is not bound to nine to five. For me, the prospect of working an average job is not as rewarding and aspiring as a successful entrepreneur. Although building a successful business takes a lot of time and risks, I am willing to bite the bullet. As the old adage goes, entrepreneurship is living a few years of your life like most people won’t so that you can spend the rest of your life like most people can’t. I believe entrepreneurship will allow me to achieve financial success and freedom one day in future.
D – Avinash, 14 years old I want to be an electrical engineer when I grow up. I have always been fascinated by electrical systems and machinery since small. Good electrical engineers need a variety of skills to excel in their roles. For example, electrical engineers need to have problem-solving skills so that they can solve complex problems while troubleshooting failed products. Besides that, they must be decisive as they need to make firm and informed decisions about their products.
E – Ker Yee, 17 years old I want to be a lawyer when I grow up. Being a lawyer, I will have the chance to use my legal skills to help people, animals and the environment. Lawyers can also enjoy flexibility in their job. For example, lawyers can set their own fees, choose their working hours and select clients they want to work with. However, this profession has zero tolerance for mistakes as a mistake might cost a client’s millions of dollars or freedom.

F – Nur Fazleen, 15 years old

I want to be a musician when I grow up. I prefer a job that is relaxing and entertaining at the same time, so being a musician is just the perfect job for me. Studies show that playing a musical instrument on a regular basis helps lower stress. Apparently, music also can lower the heart rate and blood pressure, too.
