Questions 17-24

Arowana Centre is a great place to visit – there is so much to do. Mother Earth, which is a huge blue dome, is the first thing you see when visiting Arowana Centre.

A wonderful start to my visit was when my family and I were waiting for the doors to open, three ‘garbagemen’ arrived at the front and started talking really loudly. They began throwing around the dustbins nearby and then later started ‘playing’ on the dustbins with their sticks, mops and brooms. It was a wonderful, creative and definitely different musical experience.

Arowana Centre like other theme parks around the world, is separated into different geographical zones. There are South Asia, Southeast Asia, Middle East, North America and others. Each zone focuses on special rides. There are seats everywhere and lots of opportunities to eat and drink. The prices are surprisingly competitive. When we were there, it was a hot day but there were misting fans all around the park that visitors could use to cool down. Water fountains were also available.

I went there a few weeks before Christmas. There were Christmas carols and everywhere was festively decorated. Everyone enjoyed themselves very much. The spectacular firework display at the end of the day was the icing on the cake. This theme park is quite expensive, but it is definitely worth a visit. Fast passes are available at an additional cost for your favourite rides to bypass the queues. Arowana Centre is a really fun place to visit.
