

UNIT 8: TIME TO SPARE

Read the text below and answer questions 1 to 8.

What to Buy for Alex's Birthday

Next week is Alex's birthday. I am not sure of what to get him this year. The other day, I was shopping online and I came across two items. The first one was a portable media player while the second one was a camera.

Having a portable media is a trend nowadays, right? The media player that I saw online is made in Japan and it is the latest model. It comes in three colours, namely black, yellow and silver. All these colours are Alex's favourite! As a music-lover, he would love the portable media player because he can use it to store many songs. He can use the lanyard to hang the media player around his neck so that he can listen to his music anytime. I thought a portable media player would be expensive but it actually only costs RM 320. I thought it's quite affordable. There is also a free mystery gift for the first 100 online shoppers.

However, I can still remember the conversation that Alex and I had a week ago. He told me he needed a new camera. His camera was stolen during his trip to Terengganu. The camera that I saw on the shopping site is a 12-megapixel digital camera. It comes in black, white or silver. The camera has a panoramic view feature. If Alex had this camera, he would not need to borrow my camera any more. The price is a little higher than the portable media player. It costs RM 350. Other than that, this item comes with a free tripod if purchased online.

Both items are suitable for him but I still can't make up my mind. Hmm...maybe I should talk to Mum about this and see what she thinks.

A Gift for Alex

Colours available for the portable media player	1. 2. 3.
Price of the portable media player	4.
Colours available for the camera	5. 6. 7.
Free items received when buying the camera	8.