Former CEO Arrested!

George Martin, former head of Tech Industries, was arrested today. Police have been investigating Tech Industries since last year. TI employees had not been paid for six months. This caused them to file a lawsuit for unpaid salary. Soon after, the corporation declared bankruptcy. Then it was found that most of the company money was gone. It had been transferred to a secret bank account. Police have learned that this bank account belongs to George Martin. He was CEO of TI for five years. Mr. Martin was arrested at his home this evening. He denies any connection with the secret bank account.
