Some Dos and Don'ts for Young Volunteers

DOS	DON'TS
Think about your interests. What kinds of things do you get excited about? Do you love to teach kids, work outdoors, or help people in need? Your interests can lead to a particular type of volunteer activity.	Don't be frustrated if you don't get the perfect job right away. Your first volunteer job may be less than ideal, but it can still be a good learning experience.
Consider your skills. Are you good at something like sports or computers? Most volunteer organizations are looking for people with specific talents and abilities.	Don't limit your thinking. With all the choices, you may find a volunteer opportunity that never occurred to you. Your effort could lead to something surprising!
Do research. You'll be amazed at the number of volunteer organizations out there. Start by asking .family and friends about the ones they know, or do some research on the Internet. Then follow up by contacting the organization directly.	Don't try to do more work than you can handle. If you can't manage the work you volunteered to do, it can be difficult for your organization, and embarrassing for you.

	TRUE	FALSE	IT DOESN'T SAY
Most volunteer organizations want Most volunteer organizations want people with special skills.
The Internet has the best information about volunteer jobs.
It's easy to find a volunteer job that's just right for you.
There are many different kinds of volunteer jobs.
