

The United Nations has selected you to participate in a University exchange for a year in any English-speaking university, due to your high level of English. To make a formal application you need to write a motivation letter there you should include your academic inquiries, as well as your interests on travelling to the selected country. Your report needs to include:

- Personal information
- Academic and working experience
- Community work/ volunteering
- Academic achievements/ awards
- Explain the reasons why you are interested in the country and in this university
