An invitation to a fancy dress party. Cool! What was I going to wear? I thought about going as a chef but Dad's [redacted] was filthy and I didn't have time to wash it. What about a knight? I could use a stick as a [redacted] and a dustbin lid as a [redacted] but what about a [redacted] to wear on my head? No, a knight was too difficult. Then I thought about going as a superhero, a [redacted] to cover my face, a big [redacted] around my waist and a [redacted] over the top. Not bad but then I had a brilliant idea ...

I arrived at Mike's house and knocked on the door. I was a rock star and I looked cool! Dark [redacted] hiding my eyes, a [redacted] of long black hair on my head and my dad's leather jacket.

Mike opened the door dressed in a suit and tie. Tina, his girlfriend was stood beside him in a beautiful dress. He looked at me and laughed. 'When I said dress fancy, I meant dress smart,' he laughed. It was too late now. I had to go in ...
