

What is refraction?

Complete the sentences about refraction by writing the correct words in the spaces.

Refraction happens when light passes from one material to another material with a different .

Refraction can be observed when light passes from to water at an angle. This is because water is than air.

refract light. They can be convex or .

Both types of lenses are used for making glasses, binoculars, , microscopes and cameras.

denser telescopes density concave Lenses air

