Get It Right

1. We use the superlative adjectives to compare more than two people, animals or things.
2. We use 'the' with superlative adjectives. We also add '-est' to the adjectives.
Examples: I'm the tallest in my class.
That was the longest race of all.
3. For adjectives that end in '-y', such as 'pretty', we remove the '-y' and add 'i' before we add '-est' or '-est' to form the comparatives and superlatives.

Examples: The white flower is pretty.

The blue flower is prettier than the white flower.

The red flower is the prettiest of all.

4. Some adjectives are irregular. We cannot add '-er' or '-est' to form their comparatives and superlatives.

Examples: good – better – the best

bad – worse – the worst
