

1. Read the sentences and complete with the correct prepositions.

off for in out over on down

1. It's not advisable to go swimming _____ a full stomach; you should wait a while before diving into the sea.
2. When I had a craving _____ something sweet, Cassie reminded me of the strawberry cheesecake and the chocolate cake left _____ from the previous day. I chose to have the latter, because I was in the mood for something chocolatey.
3. I really must cut _____ on all the fast food I've been consuming recently. All this eating _____ has meant that I've started to pile on the pounds.
4. When oranges are _____ season, I tend to have freshly squeezed juice instead of coffee in the morning.
5. Unfortunately, the cream had gone _____, so I had to use milk in the mashed potatoes. Can you tell the difference?

of on in at up off out

6. When I was younger, I was such a fussy eater with vegetables that I would pick _____ them for hours. Now I seem to polish them _____ in no time.
7. I'm still not particularly hungry. Maybe a long walk along the river bank will help me to work _____ an appetite.
8. The doctor advised me to cut _____ salt from my diet for a while to lower my blood pressure.
9. I highly recommend the steak at this restaurant. It's always been the most popular dish _____ the menu for the simple reason that it almost melts _____ your mouth.
10. Even though it's considered a luxury food product, I really don't like caviar; I guess it's a matter _____ taste.

to down in up on

11. A diet rich _____ vitamins and minerals is considered crucial for optimal health.
12. I really shouldn't have gulped _____ that fizzy drink; I have stomach ache now.
13. A: More coffee, anyone?
B: Yes, please. Could you top mine _____?
14. My brother is crazy about noodles; he practically lives _____ them.
15. Our mother very kindly treated us _____ tickets to the Great British Food Festival. It was an amazing experience!