Questions 16 to 20

Read the passage below carefully and answer the questions that follow.

Mrs. Stone was a miser. One day, she went to her tailor's shop to collect some clothes which she had instructed her tailor to sew. When the tailor, Hannah, took out the blouse and skirt, Mrs Stone tried them on. The clothes fitted her well. However, she started to complain in spite of the fact that there was nothing wrong with the clothes. Hannah kept quiet. She already knew the lady too well.

After complaining about the clothes, Mrs. Stone started to bargain with Hannah. She was being grumpy and troublesome. Finally, Hannah gave in. she offered her a two ringgit discount.

"That will be forty-three ringgit then," Hannah said.

Mrs. Stone took out her purse and pulled out two red notes. "Oh, I only brought this," she said cunningly. "I'll give you the remainder later."

Hannah knew that the old lady was up to her tricks again. She pulled out the skirt from the plastic bag. "Here, you can take the blouse home first and claim the skirt later," she said.

Mrs. Stone was shocked to hear this. Then she pretended to search in her purse again. "Oh, I found another twenty ringgit."

"No, no. It's forty-three ringgit. Another three ringgit, please," Hannah said.

Mrs. Stone reluctantly pulled out three more ringgit from her purse.
