My Daily Adventures

One day I walked down a steep road. There were lots of houses on each side. My favorite one had four green windows and three blue doors. I looked in the garden, and there were a lot of yellow flowers and two white chairs. As I was walking, I heard a big bang! I looked around and five fireworks had gone off in the sky. Running towards me down the road was two frightened cats; the loud noise had scared them. Around the corner there were four green cars parked in a straight line. In the cars there were children clapping their hands. They were going somewhere excited, it seemed. I had a nice walk that day. I am going to go on two walks everyday now!
