

Drag and drop the questions back in place.

Where would you like to live?

What is your earliest memory?

What or who is the greatest love of your life?

Who would you invite to your dream dinner party?

What is your greatest fear?

When did you last cry, and why?

Is it better to give or to receive?

What song would you like played at your funeral?

What is your guiltiest pleasure?

When were you happiest?

Q&A

David Schwimmer

David Schwimmer was born in New York and grew up in Los Angeles. He appeared as Ross Geller in the popular TV show, Friends. He's also a stage actor and a movie director.

Before I realized my parents, sister, and I were all mortal.

Near the ocean, one day.

Besides death? Standing on stage in front of thousands of people, forgetting what happens next, but knowing I'm supposed to be doing it. Also, being in the ocean alone and feeling something large brush against my leg.

Pizza and TV, hopefully together.

Dostoevsky, Sophia Loren, Mahatma Gandhi, Gene Kelly, Martin Luther King Jr., Leonardo da Vinci, Charlie Chaplin, Cole Porter, Sade, my family, my friends, my lady, and a translator.

Diving off a piece of furniture and onto my parents' bed.

Three days ago, when I saw the movie La Vie en Rose. It reminded me how brief our time is here, and how wonderful it is to fall in love.

The theater.

I am always happier giving, rather than receiving, a gift – and happiest when I give anonymously.

Don't Stop 'Til You Get Enough by Michael Jackson.