Read the following dialogue carefully.

Craig and Diane are in their primary school library doing research on studying habits..

CRAIG: I am always nervous about end of term exams. I am glad we are researching 'Studying Habits'. I really want to get good grades.

DIANE: Yes, and I found some interesting information that can help us reach our goals. I learnt that in order to do well in our end of term exams we have to start studying at the beginning of the term.

CRAIG: Yes, true, I read that habits such as putting aside time to read throughout the term and always doing your homework could be a great help.

DIANE: Some of the habits I think we should start right away. Such as forming study groups, taking down notes from the blackboard, doing extra research and reading on the topics taught in class. We could also create games to help remember the things we learnt.

CRAIG: I now am beginning to understand why Ms. Hardel is always trying to persuade us to participate in class and to show us to class regularly. I now see the importance of projects and presentations. It helps us to have a clearer understanding of the topics.

DIANE: I think those are great study ideas! Studying could be exciting and we could all be successful with end of term exams. We just need to put in the work and do not wait until the end of term to start studying. Let us go tell our classmates about these plans for getting top grades this term!
