

Name: _____ Date: _____

Vocabulary part : 5 points.

• Are the following sentences true (T) or false (F)?

1. You usually find bridges under the ground. _____
2. You can make statues out of stone. _____
3. Traffic lights control the movement of cars. _____
4. Fountains send water into the air. _____
5. Apartment buildings are always low buildings. _____

• Complete the words. The first letters are given.

1. In towns and cities, it's safer to walk on the s _____.
2. You can cross the street at the c _____.
3. Is there a t _____ c _____ I can put this empty bottle in?
4. The street was very dark because there were no s _____.
5. We drove through a long t _____ under the river.

• Order the letters to complete the words.

1. S _____ MONAL
2. E _____ LPGAGNT
3. P _____ CHAE
4. A _____ P _____ EPPL EI
5. P _____ PPSREE

- Complete the sentence with the adjectives in the box.

salty	healthy	crunchy	bitter	delicious
-------	---------	---------	--------	-----------

1. A _____ diet should include plenty of fresh vegetables and fruit.
2. Alex is such a good cook. He made an absolutely _____ curry last week.
3. You shouldn't eat too many _____ foods like potato chips and olives.
4. Someone left the cookies out all night and they're not _____ any more.
5. The coffee was much too strong and had a pretty _____ taste.

Grammar part : 5 points.

- Match the pairs of sentences

- | | | |
|---|-------|-------------------------------|
| 1. She needs a vacation. | _____ | a. She works too hard. |
| 2. I can't wear this sweater on a warm day. | _____ | b. It's too hot in here. |
| 3. She felt uncomfortable after the meal. | _____ | c. It isn't warm enough here. |
| 4. Can you open the window? | _____ | d. It's too thick. |
| 5. Let's turn the central heating on. | _____ | e. She ate too much. |

- Choose the correct options to complete the sentences.

1. You ____ finish that pie if you don't want it.
 a. don't have to b. have to c. can't
2. To pass this exam, you ____ get over 75% right.
 a. can't b. don't have to c. have to
3. You ____ talk to Peter because he has a lot of work to do.
 a. have to b. don't have to c. can't
4. This is Ben's medicine. He ____ take it three times a day.
 a. can't b. have to c. has to
5. Do we ____ bring our own food?
 a. can't b. don't have to c. have to

- Order the words to make sentences. There may be more than one correct answer.

1. the / for / already / I've / tickets / paid
2. you / have / finished / essay / yet / your
3. it's / I've / 7 a.m. and / the house / cleaned / already
4. already / spoken / the phone / I've / to Carolina on
5. dinner / you / had / have / your / yet

- Complete the sentences with for or since.

1. We've known Maria _____ over ten years.
2. I've been a member of this gym _____ 2014.
3. My parents haven't heard from Ben _____ March.
4. Have you seen Jack _____ you arrived?
5. I've been waiting here _____ ages!

Reading part : 5 points.

- Read the blog about car-free cities. Match 1-4 with paragraphs A-D.

1. places where little is being done to reduce the use of cars. _____
2. how some cities have encouraged people not to drive. _____
3. how technology can help people manage without cars. _____
4. a new city where people won't need to drive. _____

- Are the sentences true (T), false (F), or is there not enough information to decide (N)?

1. People often need to drive to other places on their way to and from work. _____
2. Most people who work in cities drive to work. _____
3. In Milan, most people travel by public transportation once or twice a week. _____
4. London is a safe place to ride a bike to work. _____
5. In the new town near Chengdu, it'll be easy for people to walk everywhere. _____
6. Planners, want people who work in Chengdu to drive there on their own. _____

Guest blogger Penny writes about how cities are designed.

Car-free cities: dream or reality?

What's the number one thing you hate about cities? It's probably the traffic. Who wants to breathe in dirty air all day, or spend hours stuck in a traffic jam on their daily commute? On the other hand, we've had cars for over 100 years now and we rely on them, especially with our busy lives—rushing to drop the kids off at school before we go to work, or going to the supermarket on the way home. So how can town planners persuade us to leave our cars at home? Here are some different ideas from around the world.

A Since 2014, Milan has had a really interesting system: for every day that residents leave their car at home, they get a voucher for the value of a ticket on the train or bus! And in Copenhagen, around half of all workers commute by bike on a huge, safe network of bike lanes. Perhaps London should try to do the same. Traffic there moves more slowly than the average bike rider, but the streets are far more dangerous on two wheels!

B In some countries, town planners working on new towns and cities are trying to reduce the use of cars to a bare minimum before they've even been built. For example, one new town in China, with a planned population of 80,000, is being designed so that all its stores, entertainment venues, work places, etc. are within a fifteen-minute walk from where residents live. And there'll be fast public transportation connections to the nearest big city of Chengdu.

C In Helsinki, local authorities are using phone apps to reduce car numbers. The city has several schemes for people to share the use of bikes and cars. The app allows anyone to quickly find the nearest shared bike, car, or taxi, or tells them the best and fastest bus or train route. Planners there hope that within ten years no one will need to drive in the city at all.

D Sadly, not all cities are encouraging car-free trips. It's true that 60% of people living in Paris don't own a car, but many U.S. towns and cities are designed specifically for the use of cars. And there aren't any alternatives yet. And in car-loving Sydney, things seem to be going backward. There are plans to get rid of pedestrian space to make room for even more cars!

Speaking part : 5 points.

1. What was your childhood like?
2. Do you think we should ban cars in big cities? Why? Why not?
3. Why do you think we should eat more vegetables and fruits?
4. What kind of healthy activities do you and your family do?
5. What would be your favorite lunch and why?