My family's a very big – I think more than fifty members. I have four sons and eight girls from my first wife, and nearly as many from my second.
- I myself am the third of five children. All of my siblings and me are married and I have three sons and one brother-in-law. My sister has two children, my two sons-in-law have one daughter each, and I'm expecting a child of my own.
- My wife and I have a 10-year-old son, and I also have a baby son, so we are all very excited.
- We live together in my own house (own house, parents' house).
- We live about 100 miles (100 miles, 100 miles) from my parents (parents, grand-grandparents). I also have a few distant relatives who live within twenty miles of us, however I think I should only visit on great occasions. Sometimes, my grandmother (grandmother, grand-grandmother) says, "I want to see a reunion again. I'm trying to figure out how to start. Should I include all relatives or narrow it down to only my immediate family?" So the fact, I've talked about it with my wife and we are close to do.
