QUESTION MARKS

All questions end with a question mark.

E.g. How old are you?

Where have you been?

Is Australia an island?

Observe that the verb is followed by the subject in a question.

E.g. How old are (verb) you (subject)?

Where have (verb) you (subject) been?

Is (verb) Australia (subject) an island?

When an auxiliary verb is used, the subject comes between the auxiliary and the participle.

E.g. Did (auxiliary verb) you (subject) enjoy (verb participle) the show?

Some auxiliary verbs that are used in questions are:-

shall, will, do, does, did, can, could, is, are, am, was, were, has, have.

Words that indicate questions are:- who, when, where, why, what, how.

PRACTICE:

Birds can fly.

You stole my pencil.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

EXERCISE

Change these statements into questions.

1. Barak Obama was a famous man.

2. Mary has been to the cinema.

3. We have completed the exercise.

4. You haven't done your homework.

5. They were walking in the park.

6. You will come to visit me on Saturday.

7. Only one variable is changed in an experiment.

8. Light travels faster than sound

LIVEWORKSHEETS