

A road trip!

Where have Bill and Margaret been to yet?

Margaret and Bill have just taken off from Sidney, to go to Brisbane. They're writing a letter to their daughter in LA to tell her about what they have already done and what they haven't done yet. Look at this map and the table to complete their letter.

"Hey Lisa! How're u goin'? (That's how Aussies say Hello!)

We're on the plane to Brisbane so we have some time to write to you. Life is so pleasant here "Down Under"! What a great country it is! Here's what we (do) so far.

We (already / land) in Perth and we (already / take) the Indian Pacific Train. You won't believe how long it is! It goes from Perth to Sidney, so we (be) on the train for 4 days! It's really comfortable and your father (sleep) like a baby!

We (make) a halt to see some sheep. We (fly) on a helicopter so the view was spectacular. Australian farmers use helicopters for Cattle stations. This is very impressive.

Then we (visit) Sidney and its Opera House. Daddy (take) some fantastic photos so we can show you how original this building looks! Just stunning! We have (just / take off) so let's see what we (not / do / yet). I (not / surf in Brisbane / yet).

We (not / see any alligators / yet).

Our guide (not / drive us through the outback / yet).

We (not / hike around Uluru / yet).

We (not / drink some wine in Adelaide / yet).

And we (not / be to Canberra / yet). We can't leave a country before visiting the capital city!

This trip is really amazing! I (never / see) such a beautiful country in my life! This is certainly the best trip we (ever / do).

Lots of love from the Down Under Land!

Mom and Dad"
