Read about Wani's day.

Wani is a vet. She works at the Vet Clinic. She looks after sick animals and helps people to keep their pets healthy.

Wani arrives at the clinic at 7 o'clock. First, she checks and feeds the animals in the ward. At half past seven, she gets out her equipment and makes sure she has enough medicines for the day.

She sees her first animal at eight o'clock. She looks at each animal carefully to find out what is wrong. This can be difficult as animals can't talk. At twelve o'clock, Wani has her lunch.

She starts work again at half past one. She sees more animals in the afternoon. She gives medicine to sick animals. She sets broken bones.

She gives injections and vitamins to other animals to keep them healthy.

Wani writes notes about each animal. At four o'clock, she puts the notes into the animals' files.

Wani goes home at half past four.
