

Animals in danger in the UK

- 1- Look and say what you see
- 2- Read and match

A Can you see the Scottish wildcats?
There is a mummy and a kitten. They are small and furry. They eat small animals. They're in danger! There are only thirty-five wildcats in Scotland.

B Red squirrels are small and furry and very lively. They eat nuts and fruit. They are in danger from grey squirrels.

C Hedgehogs are small. They aren't furry! They've got lots of spines. They eat insects. They are in danger from people and traffic.

- 3- Listen and repeat

Which animals do you like best?

I like squirrels best.

I like wildcats best.

I like gorillas best.

- 4- What animals are in danger in your region?
