

Listen to the story “ The Great Fire of London” and fill in the blanks with the correct words.

It is the year _____. London is an _____ city with lots of _____ streets.

A lot of people are _____ because there are _____ in all the streets and the houses.

One evening, a _____, Thomas Farriner, and his daughter, Harriet, are making bread.

It is late. 'We must work quickly. says Thomas. 'We need this bread for the _____ in the morning.'

Just then, Mary, the baker's _____, comes in. 'You're late, Mary!' says Thomas. 'Sorry, Mr Farriner,' says Mary. Thomas, Harriet and Mary make bread for two hours.

Then Mr Farriner's wife, Anne, calls down to them. 'Time for bed, girls,' she says. 'We're just finishing,' says Harriet.

Harriet and Mary go up to bed. Thomas takes the bread from the _____.

"Good. The fire is nearly out now.'
thinks Thomas.

"Thomas!' calls Anne. "What are you doing? It's very late.'

Thomas goes up to bed but he doesn't close the oven door. An hour later the baker's shop is _____.

'Wake up girls! Wake up!' cries Anne.

"The house is on fire!"

"Quick. Open the window,' says Thomas. 'Let's go up on the _____.'

Thomas jumps to the house _____. Anne and Harriet follow him. But Mary stays on the roof of the baker's shop. *Jump over here! they all cry. "Jump!" 'I can't,' says Mary. 'I'm afraid.
