6 Sleeping Problem

Woman: James, JAMES! Wake up!

Man: What? Why did you wake me up?

Woman: It is 2:00 in the afternoon.

Man: Only two? I'm going (1).....

Woman: No, you have to get up. You will be late for that class again.

Man: Ah, can't you just (2)..... for me again?

Woman: No, I did that last time, and I am not doing that again. You need to get more sleep and get into (3).....

Man: Routine? Like what?

Woman: You should get up no later than 6:30.

Man: 6:30?

Woman: That gives you plenty of time for (4)..... workout.

Man: You ('ve) got to be joking! No way. And I already exercise. I turn off the alarm clock, and it takes a lot of strength and (5)..... to get up at that unspeakable hour.

Woman: You need to get to bed no later than 9:00.

Man: N . . . . Nine?

Woman: Yes, you need at least (6)..... of sleep . . . . that's what science says. and sleeping in class does not count. And going to bed at 3:00 in the morning is a terrible way to live, and how many hours do you even get?

Man: Well, wait. I get about five hours . . . wait, wait, well? Four hours [Yeah, right.], or, or or . . . . sometimes, three, but I do better on less sleep. And I don't want to sleep (7).....

Woman: No, this is unbelievable. You need sleep; caffeine isn't an acceptable (8)..... I've seen you fall asleep while driving . . . James, James. Do NOT fall asleep while I'm talking to you.

Man: I'm not. I'm just resting my eyes.

Woman: Oh, okay, fine, fine. You fail that class . . . see if I care.
