

NUMBER DICTATION

This facility produces methane gas that powers about _____ percent of the plant's electricity needs. Engineers hope to add more facilities to get to _____ percent.

We've probably got a total of maybe _____ digesters in the whole of South Africa. Now we compare it to a country like India, that's got _____ million digesters, it just indicates the potential that we have in South Africa.

This is one of the estimated _____ million vehicles rolling off Thailand's assembly lines this year.

Thailand, I think, has made a concerned effort from government policy in the last _____ years to plan to support the automotive industry. Ford has been in Thailand about _____ years and just since _____ we've invested over a billion dollars in our manufacturing and product cycle plant footprint in Thailand.

It's the biggest technology IPO since Facebook. And if all goes as planned, Twitter could sell as many as _____ million shares priced between $_____ to $_____ apiece. That would generate about $_____ billion, giving Twitter a market value of $_____ billion. But is it really worth it?