

Read the following passages and answer the questions below:

Dogs and Wolves

Dogs and wolves are part of the same animal family. Both animals have strong senses of smell and are loyal to their packs. But dogs and wolves are quite different when it comes to people. Dogs are used to living with people and get along well with them. In fact, dogs have been called "man's best friend." Wolves, on the other hand, cannot live with humans. Wolves prefer to live in the wild, where they can hunt for their food. Clearly, dogs belong with people, while wolves do not.

What is the main idea of the passage?

- a) Dogs are better suited to living with people than wolves are.
- b) What characteristics dogs have
- c) Dogs and wolves are of the same family that have common things.
- d) Why wolves do not live with people.
