

The locked Room is a book about a prisoner. He has got a memory problem he can't remember his name, his occupation, his family but he remembers that one day he is lying on the grass with a pair of binoculars watching a beautiful house and that a big man with a big dog is behind him. This man hits the prisoner on the head with a gun and he has got a bump on his head now.

One day the prisoner comes out of the locked room when a member of a gang forgets the key in the lock on the other side of the door. The prisoner can open the door because there is a piece of paper and a pen on the table. He takes the piece of paper and puts it on the floor. He pushes the piece of paper under the door. Then he puts the pen into the key hole and pushes the key. Then the key fall on the floor. He pulls the piece of paper carefully with the key on it and in he has got the key in the end.

When he comes out of the room, he walks along the corridor and he opens the door of a room where there are expensive art paintings. The gangsters are art thieves.

The prisoner finds a telephone in one of the rooms. He calls the police. They arrive. When the police arrive, they recognize the prisoner. He is Eddie Hampton. He isn't a police officer. He is a small thief. The police are happy to see Eddie because, thanks to him, they can find big thieves who steal art paintings.
