

The Burke expedition: put the events in a chronological order

1. The South Australian Government issued £2000 for crossing the continent.

They reached the swamps but they were running out of supplies.

The entire group got to Cooper's Creek.

They lost some men and camels due to the unbearable heat.

The expedition set off with 6 carriages and 20 tons of equipment.

They reached Cooper's Creek during their return journey and were exhausted and hopeless.

Burke was worried about the slow progress.

Brahe and the others left Cooper's Creek.

John McDouall Stuart also took up the challenge to cross Australia.

Burke and Wills decided to left the group behind and move on quickly.
