

Probability in space

Mario found a two sided rock wondering in space. His chief asks Mario to determine how probable it is for it to fall on each side.

Your answer

There are three meteorites wondering in space. One color yellow one color green and one color red. The spaceship A342 needs to catch one of them. What are the probabilities of them catching the red one?

Your answer

In space there are four ships traveling to mars. What are the possibilities of the caption using either one of them?

Your answer

Write your answers in frations