You can do a few things to make homework less stressful. First, be sure you understand the assignment. Write it down in your notebook if you need to, and don't be afraid to ask questions about what is expected. Taking a minute to ask the teacher during or after class is much easier than to try to remember it later that night! Second, use any free time you have in school to work on your homework. Many schools have libraries where students can study or do their homework. The more work you can do in school, the less you will have to do at home. No one can understand everything, and maybe you need some help. The first place to turn for help is your teacher. But if you don't feel comfortable with your teacher, you may ask other teachers who teach the same subject for help. Besides, you might also get some help from another student. If there is someone you like who is a good student, think about asking that person if you can study together.
